

Continuing Medical Education (CME)

Practising doctors are required to pursue Continuing Medical Education (CME) to update their medical knowledge and skills to keep up with changes in medicine. Doctors must fulfil the requisite number of CME points to renew their practising certificates for practice in Singapore. To find out about the CME programme, please click here.